*my take on...
fashion*

"Clothes are not about being fashionable; they're about feeling good in your own skin."

After 17 years playing power broker Emily Stewart on "As the World Turns," Kelley knows all about the drama of designer labels and high heels. In real life, though, her fashion views are based on something much more fundamental.

"My mother taught us the importance of good grooming at a young age. And not to dress flashy but to just be ourselves. Now my husband Jon Hensley, and I preach the same to our children: 10-year-old Sophie May, 7-year-old Spencer James and our youngest, Georgia 'Gigi' Grace, who is 2."

"I want my kids to look good for their own self-esteem, as opposed to the impression they make on others. Clothes are not about being fashionable; they're about making you feel good in your own skin. I want them to be presentable, and part of that is having a clean face, clean hair and fresh clothes."

To keep her family looking and feeling good, Kelley uses Clorox 2® Stain Fighter & Color Booster. "If you are clean and well-groomed, you project positive energy to the world," says Hensley.

Clorox 2® Stain Fighter & Color Booster is available at Sam's Club.
